Nowadays there are a lot of people change their career and places of residence several times during their lives. They think it's good. But some people have opposite opinion on this matter. They are sure that it's very uncomfortable to change the careers so often.

Firstly, there are a lot of advantages changing the career. So, people have ~~new~~ new friends when they change the place of their work. Secondly, people can learn more about different things. They become more educational when they change their career. In addition to it, they have ~~there are~~ much more opportunities for their development and making their career.

Admittedly, there are some people who think differently. They are sure it isn't right to change the work so often because it very hard to settle in a new place.

I think to change the career and places of residence several times during the life is very interesting. So, you can communicate with different people and to learn more.

In conclusion I would ~~to~~ say that everyone have their own opinion and we should respect everyone's choice.
