Increasing of population is a global disaster, which influences on life quality. More people means less work-places, so people have no money to exist the way they like.

Let's talk about the reasons of the overpopulations. Firstly, lots of people want to have children. That's normal, but if you have money to pay for the child's needs. Nowadays ~~lots~~ every 5-th teen is being pregnant, but they don't want it. That's a shame, but almost always relatives and parents just don't explain their children not to have <sup>even</sup> relations, when they're too young.

What about knowledge and career? If you passed college/school with good marks, it doesn't mean that you'll be ~~successful~~ <sup>even</sup> person. You also need to achieve something while you are studying, cause often that could be a good point when you ~~get~~ apply for a job.

Unfortunately, there <sup>is already</sup> a little number of work-places. Overpopulation causes famine in some countries, like in Africa, India and ext. Economy suffers from it, cause governments ~~no~~ have to care for ~~thems~~ homeless and workless, for the children disabled people.

Changing the places where you live ~~during~~ caused by working is bad and good at the same time. You can visit lots of interesting and exciting places, meet new people. It means that you will never know when would you need to move again.

If you are a person who loves changes that lifestyle is definitely for you

The only minuses are:

- 1) you wouldn't have a real friend.
- 2) your family will suffer from it (ex. your children would change schools)

~~Phases are:~~ Advantages:

- 1) new friends
- 2) impressions
- 3) interesting life

At the other hand, if you are <sup>an</sup> elderly person, that would be uncomfortable for you to move somewhere, because after 30 people usually have their own cars, homes, be used in their styles and families. That's a shame.

So, if you would like to be a soldier or someone, who need to live in different cities, think about it carefully. Do you want quite a pacific life or full of unexpected life.
